Introduction to the Labour Force Survey

The Labour Force Survey (LFS) is a monthly household survey of a sample of individuals who are representative of the civilian, non-institutionalized population 15 years of age or older, conducted by Statistics Canada.

Employment estimates from the LFS include detailed breakdowns by demographic characteristics, industry and occupation, job tenure, usual and actual hours worked, etc.

LFS estimates are based on the 2006 Census population counts; industry estimates are based on North American Industry Classification System (NAICS) 2007; and occupation estimates are based on National Occupational Classification for Statistics (NOC-S) 2006.

For additional information about the Labour Force Survey, please see the Guide to the Labour Force Survey, 2012: http://www.statcan.gc.ca/pub/71-543-g/71-543-g2012001-eng.pdf

Revisions to the Labour Force Survey

Fluctuations in economic time series are caused by seasonal, cyclical, and irregular movements. A seasonally adjusted series is one from which seasonal movements have been eliminated. As new data points become available, they are used in the derivation of revised historical estimates. This results in revisions and more accurate estimates of the seasonally adjusted values.

In general, there is small impact on trends as a result of annual revisions. However, due to Yukon's small population base, a minor change in any number may significantly affect the relevant rates.

For more detailed information on the LFS, please consult the Statistics Canada publication Improvements to the Labour Force Survey (LFS): http://www.statcan.gc.ca/pub/71f0031x/71f0031x2011001-eng.pdf
